Kansas Urological Society and Missouri Urological Association

3rd Annual Collaborative Forum
March 9, 2013
The Westin Crown Center
Kansas City, Missouri
It is my pleasure to invite you to the third combined meeting of the state urological organizations of Missouri and Kansas. I am often asked why anyone would attend a meeting in person anymore. Education credits can be obtained online inexpensively. It takes time to travel to a meeting. Spending time away from a practice hurts the bottom line. It is amazing to me that any urologist would plan to attend this meeting.

The reasons for doing so are threefold. I believe urologists look for quality education on topics of significance to their practices. We have focused on this objective in our previous meetings and this year’s sessions with Drs. Wessells, Lin and Nangia should follow suit. Second, this meeting provides this education in a convenient location and we have modified the schedule to minimize time away from practices. Finally, the small size of our groups allows for a more intimate setting that really allows for an almost personal approach to education with opportunity for gathering information closely pertinent to one’s practice.

On another note, I was originally attracted to urology as a career in part because of the collegial spirit among its practitioners. I am grateful that in three years of assisting in the planning of this meeting, that my interactions with urologists from Kansas have extended beyond collegial to include feelings of respect and friendship. I hope all of you will join us for this meeting and get those same feelings for your neighboring urologists.

Sincerely,

James M. Cummings, MD
President
Missouri Urological Association

I appreciate the opportunity to serve for another year as president of the Kansas Urological Society. Much has occurred in the medical environment of our state over the last year. We gained a major victory when the Kansas Supreme Court upheld the state law that caps the damages awarded in medical malpractice cases. The decision will allow us to continue to practice urology in Kansas without undue increases in malpractice insurance rates. Now we wait to see how Gov. Brownback and the Kansas Legislature will handle the issues involving Medicaid expansion under the Affordable Care Act. The Kansas Urological Society strives to keep its members aware of these political topics and develop a unified position that will benefit urologists all across the state.

In addition, I extend a warm invitation for you to attend the 3rd Annual Kansas Urological Society (KUS)/Missouri Urological Association (MUA) Collaborative Forum on March 9, 2013, at the Westin Crown Plaza in Kansas City, Missouri. Now in its 3rd year of existence, the annual meeting is designed to bring together urologists from the states of Kansas and Missouri to discuss the political issues affecting urologists in their respective states and on a national level. It is a time to network with old friends and form new friendships with fellow physicians in our field. The meeting is also a great educational opportunity to hear lectures and interact with nationally-renowned urologists.

This year, we are extremely pleased to welcome Dr. Hunter Wessells and Dr. Daniel Lin, both from the University of Washington in Seattle, Washington. Dr. Wessells will examine the complications of pelvic fractures, debate the role of DVIU in today’s environment and discuss the surgical management of Peyronie’s Disease. Dr. Lin is going to outline advice for the active surveillance of prostate cancer. He is also providing the state-of-the-art address about the role of active surveillance for testicular cancer. In addition, our own current KUS secretary/treasurer, Dr. Ajay Nangia from the University of Kansas Medical Center, will give an update on the recent AUA vasectomy guidelines. We are fortunate to have Dr. Mark Edney, the American Urological Association Gallagher Health Policy Scholar from 2012 – 2013, to provide a legislative update. Overall, I believe the meeting has an excellent agenda that covers topics important to all urologists.

The annual meeting functions as a major activity of the KUS/MUA. We have made the meeting a one-day event to facilitate travel to and from Kansas City. I strongly encourage attendance by everyone concerned about the current medical environment within the state and nationally. Your support is crucial to the success of our meeting and our society. We look forward to seeing you in Kansas City, Missouri.

Sincerely,

David A. Duchene, MD
